Draco is born

One-shot

Chapter 1 of 1

Draco is born

A/N I don't own Harry Potter. The prompt was given to me by LITC to write Draco's birth from Lucius' POV.

I pace back and forth in front of the closed door, my robes billowing out behind me. Though I do not show it outwardly, my blood is pounding in my ears. The Dark Mark burns on my forearm, but I know that it would look odd for me to leave when my wife is having my child. After countless minutes, a baby's cry goes through the air. The Healer opens the door and comes out with a child in his arms.

"Mr. Malfoy, you have a son."

I take the child from him and look at my son. He is blond and fair, like Narcissa and I.

"Your wife had a difficult delivery. There will be no more children."

The Dark Mark burns on my arm again. Going into the birthing room, I lay the child in my wife's arms.

"Do you like the name Draco?" she whispers, looking at our son.

I nod. "Draco Lucius." Bending down, I give her a kiss on the cheek. "I have to go. He calls."

I leave Malfoy Manor, wishing for once that I didn't have to.
